Dulles Undergoes Hospital Test

Allen W. Dulles, 71, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, today was to undergo a series of diagnostic tests at Washington Hospital Center. He was admitted yesterday.

Mrs. Dulles said her husband decided to enter the hospital because he "simply wasn't feeling very well. I think all that's wrong is that he's been going at too swift a pace."

She reported Mr. Dulles was "very jolly and in very good spirits" when she saw him yesterday afternoon and that whatever is wrong with him "doesn't seem to be anything bad."
